The Office of the Lieutenant Governor provides support for the constitutional and community roles of The Queen's representative in Ontario. The Office arranges for the signing of Cabinet and Ministry documents and the granting of Royal Assent, and supports the Lieutenant Governor in the ceremonial opening, prorogation or dissolution of the Legislative Assembly. The Office coordinates the Lieutenant Governor's calendar of official engagements held at Queen's Park and in communities throughout the province, and on request, sends congratulations from the Lieutenant Governor to Ontario residents and organizations marking important occasions, such as wedding anniversaries (50th and over), birthdays (90th and over) and special events.

THE ONTARIO GOVERNMENT

Queen Elizabeth II is the head of State, represented in Ontario by the Lieutenant Governor.

Ontario's parliamentary system has three branches:

The Executive Branch is comprised of elected representatives. The Premier and Ministers of the Crown collectively form the Cabinet of Ontario. Ministers are responsible for policies and program delivery in 22 ministries. The government is generally formed by the political party winning a majority of seats (representatives) in an election, with the party leader becoming the Premier of Ontario.

The Legislative Branch is comprised of all elected representatives and is presided over by a Speaker. It makes, amends and repeals laws, authorizes taxes, reviews expenditure estimates, receives reports, and debates bills, motions and resolutions.

The Judicial Branch is comprised of appointed individuals who administer justice by adjudicating criminal and civil disputes in Ontario's courts.

Ontario's government is supported by the Ontario Public Service, headed by the Secretary of the Cabinet.

CABINET OFFICE

6th Flr, 99 Wellesley St W
Toronto M7A 1A1

The role of Cabinet Office is to manage the decision-making structures of the Ontario Government, ensuring that they effectively reflect the policies and programs of the government. Cabinet Office, working with the Premier's Office, supports Cabinet and its committees in establishing an agreed upon policy agenda and overall priorities, and works with ministries to ensure that a full range of policy options is provided to Cabinet. From time to time, Cabinet Office establishes special working groups to develop policy in areas of particular priority or which require inter-ministry coordination. In addition, Cabinet Office liaises with the Government House Leader's Office on the legislative agenda, and coordinates corporate communications and issues management processes.

The Human Rights Tribunal of Ontario is a tribunal established by the Human Rights Code to conduct hearings and decide complaints of violations of human rights. By law, it cannot deal with any other kind of issue. Complaints are referred to the Board of Inquiry by the Ontario Human Rights Commission. A tribunal is a quasi-judicial body with decision-making powers. "Quasi-judicial" means that, similar to the courts, tribunals have authority or discretion to decide important issues affecting the rights and obligations of opposing parties. Tribunals' decisions have the effect of imposing serious sanctions or consequences on the parties. The Human Rights Tribunal of Ontario encourages parties to participate in voluntary mediation. If that is unsuccessful the case is scheduled for a hearing before an adjudicator. At the hearing the adjudicator determines whether a Code right of the complainant has been infringed or not and the appropriate remedy.

In Ontario, mediation through FSCO is a mandatory first step for disputes over accident benefits. The mediator will facilitate discussions with the parties to help them resolve their dispute, but will not make a decision for the parties. If mediation is unable to resolve the dispute, the claimant has these options: file for arbitration at FSCO, pursue private arbitration or go to court. An arbitration involves a formal hearing after which the arbitrator issues a written decision. After arbitration, either party may appeal a decision on issues of law to FSCO's Director of Arbitrations. Parties may also apply to have an appeal or arbitration order varied or revoked based on a material change in the insured person's circumstances.

The Long-Term Care Redevelopment Project (LTCRP) was initiated in early 2000 to spearhead the government's long-term care redevelopment initiative. The LTCRP is working with other ministries, municipalities, and key stakeholders to facilitate the development and opening of 20,000 new long-term care beds by the end of 2004 and the redevelopment of up to 16,000 existing older beds by 2006. In addition, LTCRP is working to put in place the processes and mechanisms necessary to ensure the successful start up and operation of these beds and their effective integration into local and provincial health systems. The LTCRP represents a dedicated team of experts with the skills and expertise necessary to oversee all aspects of the long-term care implementation strategy, including management, policy development, procurement, long-term care, legal services, and social housing.

Ontario Parks coordinates Ontario's parks and protected areas system, leads the provincial Species at Risk Program and manages more than 290 provincial parks with an area of over 7.2 million hectares. Parks are managed to protect representative and unique examples of Ontario's natural and cultural heritage. A majority of parks emphasize protection, but over 100 are operated to provide recreation, canoe tripping, hiking, nature viewing, camping, picnicing, swimming and more. Many of these parks offer natural and cultural heritage education programs. Parks are popular camping destinations, so campsite reservations are recommended. They can be made for more than 65 provincial parks by calling 1-888-ONT-PARK, or on the Internet at www.OntarioParks.com. The Web site includes information about park operating dates, barrier free access, contacting parks, facilities and services, park regulations, and a host of other subjects.

The Learning Opportunities Task Force was established in the 1997 Ontario budget, with a mandate: To improve the transition of students with specific learning disabilities from secondary school to post secondary education; and to enhance the services and supports that students with learning disabilities receive within the post-secondary educational sector to enable them to complete their education successfully. The Task Force functions as an independent body in its day-to-day activities. However, it is accountable for the funds that it allocates to the post-secondary educational sector and for the outcomes of the pilot projects that it evaluates. The Task Force is chaired by former Minister of Education, Dr. Bette Stephenson, who introduced the 1980 amendment to the Education Act, commonly known as Bill 82, and which dramatically changed special education in Ontario.

Fort William: Then & Now

The aerial image on the front cover shows the reconstructed Fort William Historical Park (FWHP) as it stands today, several miles upstream from the original site. With 42 reconstructed buildings, FWHP is among the largest living history attractions in the world.

Throughout 2003, FWHP is celebrating the 200th anniversary of the Great Rendezvous, the annual gathering of the North West Company.

Above: A watercolour rendering of Fort William, circa 1811, by British artist Robert Irvine. The painting is quite detailed and illustrates the fort's immense size, resources, and industries, including schooner construction.
